BIGGEST PROGRAM FOR BIGGEST SHOW

Official Program For Kingston Auto Show Contains Many Things of Interest and Is Well Worth Preserving—Show Open Thursday at Armory.

The biggest program for the biggest auto show ever given in cities the size of Kingston is being gotten out by The Freeman job department, and is a fine example of the printer's art. The official program is not only the largest ever gotten out for any show in Kingston, but is filled with good things from cover to cover, and those who receive one will find it well worth while to preserve for the information it contains.

The first page contains the index with a list of the advertisers. A word should be said here in regard to the advertisements. They are not just thrown together, but have been carefully written and set up, and are well worth reading, and represent the leading industrial concerns and business houses of the city.

One page is devoted to the Automobile Association of Kingston under whose auspices the show is given annually in this city, and contains the names of the officers and the list of committees who have worked so hard to put the show across with a bang. Then on another page will be found information regarding the $30 in gold to be given away for the mis-spelled word contest. The reader to find six mis-spelled words in the advertisements contained in the official program.

Before going into further details it might be said that this official program will be distributed with care at the auto show for it should not be forgotten by those fortunate enough to receive a program that each copy distributed cost the dealers 40 cents.

The program also contains the list of prizes to be given, the lucky winners at the show, and a humorous automobile story, "Alex Comes Up Smiling," by H. A. Witwer, which is loaned by, and published through the courtesy of the American Magazine. Witwer is considered one of the leading humorists of the world, and this story is one of his topnotchers.

During the days of the auto show Curt Shurter's eight piece orchestra will render a fine musical performance. The musical program will also be found in the program. It also contains a list of the fire alarm boxes of the city, a number of jokes and articles on the care and upkeep of an automobile.

Taking it by and large, considerable thought has been devoted to the preparing of the program and without question it is the best example of a program ever issued by any amusement enterprise.

While each copy costs the dealers 40 cents as stated, copies will be distributed free at the big show which opens Thursday afternoon at the state armory.

"DRY" COMPLAINTS LACK BASIS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, March 29.—Efforts of dry leaders to secure removal of federal district attorneys by unsupported charges of inefficiency or apathy in prosecuting prohibition cases, will be frowned upon by the department of justice, it was officially declared today.

Complaints alleging that various federal attorneys have been lax in their duties and have allowed "dry law" cases to hang fire by needless legal delays, have been found to be without good basis, according to Mrs. Annette Adams, assistant attorney general, supervising prohibition enforcement matters.

District Attorney Stephen Lockwood at Buffalo, latest to be given a clean bill of health by the attorney general, after an attack by the "drys" will not be displaced because of any neglect of duty. It was declared. Lockwood has three years more to serve. The department announced that he has a good record for cases handled and for convictions secured.

In many respects, it was said, the charges against Lockwood were not unlike those made against other federal attorneys at different times by prohibition leaders. Officials declared that the federal court dockets are now greatly crowded with an accumulation of cases of all kinds and that prohibition violations have added seriously to the normal jam of cases awaiting trial. This is true in practically all of the larger districts but more particularly the case in the so-called "wet" centers.

An investigation conducted by the department of justice, upon reasons for delay in trying prohibition cases, disclosed that in many districts trials were being delayed because of the previous arrest of "dry" agents in connection with their activities. These agents were material witnesses for the government.

WATER BOARD REDUCES RATES

On Charge for Use of Water for Automobiles—Effective April 1, There Will Be Flat Rate of $1 Per Year, Which is Charged to Property Owner.

At a meeting of the board of water commissioners held recently, it was decided that a change be made in the rates of automobiles. The present charge for autos is $3.00 per year for the first, and $1.50 for each additional auto. The low rate which becomes effective April 1, 1921, is $1.00 per year for each automobile and auto truck, and will be included in the regular water bill at the rate of 25 cents per quarter. No rebates or temporary non-use or laying off cars, and the above charge covers not only the use of city water for washing cars but for any purpose in connection with the care and use of autos. The charge will be made at the properties where automobiles are kept, and the bill rendered to the owner of such property, and not to tenants.

The water commissioners recently ordered a canvass of the city to be made by the inspectors of the department and all autos reported by them have been entered on the books of the department and will be charged for on the second quarter bills which will be delivered about April 1st next. The new rate is a very moderate one, and much below those prevailing in other cities, and it is expected that it will meet with the approval of automobile owners generally.

GREEKS WILD OVER VICTORY

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Athens, March 29.—News of fresh successes against the Turkish Nationalists turned today into one of wild rejoicing in the Greek capital.

The city was decorated with flags. Bells were rung. Triumphant bands were paraded in the churches. Processions marched through the streets.

The demonstrations were intensified when Premier Kallagoropoulos issued a public statement saying that the Greek victories in Anatolia "end the question of a possible revision of the treaty of Sevres." The Greek Premier took the view that the Allies must maintain the treaty as it stands without modifying it in favor of Turkey.

According to latest news from Smyrna front, the Greeks are pushing ahead in three directions, eastward, northeastward and southeastward. The Nationalists who attempted to make a stand against the column moving toward the south were defeated and driven back. They are now retreating on Konia. Konia is 230 miles east of the city of Smyrna and is only 140 miles south of Ankara, where Mustafa Kemal Pasha, head of the Turkish Nationalists, established his capital. It lies at the terminus of a railway line that stretches southward past Adana into Syria. It is a city of great strategic importance.

R. R. SITUATION BEFORE CABINET

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, March 29.—The growing seriousness of the railroad situation was considered by President Harding and his cabinet today for two hours to the exclusion of nearly everything else.

POLICE FIGHT MOB IN ESSEN

Bomb Hidden in Flowers Thrown at Police Who Thereupon Fired in the Air and Mob Fired Back.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Berlin, March 29.—Fourteen were killed and 46 wounded in a violent collision between the Security police and Communists at Essen in the Ruhr district today. Three of the dead were Security policemen. Essen is the seat of the great Krupp works and other iron and steel industries.

An officer of the Security police had ordered a mob to disperse. While the mob was engaged in conversation with the ringleaders of the Reds some unknown persons threw a huge bouquet of flowers from a window into the midst of the policemen. The flowers contained a hand grenade which exploded underneath an automobile.

The policemen fired three volleys into the air to frighten the Reds.

The Communists, who were heavily armed, opened fire with revolvers and hand grenades. The policemen returned the fire.

The cabinet held a special meeting late Monday and decided upon more energetic measures against the Communists.

Large numbers of Communists from Middle Germany, where the trouble began, are flocking into Berlin with the announced intention of assisting the Reds in a revolution. Herr Weissmann, director of public safety, admitted that the situation has become more serious and that this may prove a critical day.

Ringleaders of the Reds have made plans for an uprising with a strike and sabotage of the electric plants in the Berlin district. Following this, the Reds planned to paralyze industry and tie up railway traffic. The police officials were confident they could cope with the situation, but declared that if the Reds were even successful to a small extent it would open the way to plundering by the lawless element of the city's population.

Armed Communists at Leipzig disarmed the Security Police guarding the Leipzig Volkerschacht monument and stole a police automobile. A company of policemen pursued the Reds into a suburb of Leipzig and gave battle to them. The Reds took refuge in a school house. Five casualties resulted from the fighting.

Another battle between Security Police and Reds occurred at Markranstadt when the policemen intercepted a detachment of Communists that was going from Leipzig to Leuna.

A general strike proclaimed by the Communists at Leipzig was to have gone into effect at midnight. At the time this dispatch was written no word had been received as to the effectiveness of the order.

Troops are being concentrated for the protection of Berlin. The following police communique on the situation was issued Monday night at 10 o'clock:

"Despite the blowing up of railroad bridges the work of troop concentration has continued unimpeded. The police have captured many auto trucks filled with revolutionaries. So far, there have been no serious military encounters."

Orders were issued to the Green policemen to shoot to kill if the Communists attempt to precipitate a battle. All insurgents captured from this time on will be treated as semi-military prisoners.

They will be arraigned before "civilian court martials."

More than 300 Green police were in Weismannstrasse guarding the public buildings. They are equipped with heavily loaded rifles and supported by machine guns.

JOHN BURROUGHS DIES ON TRAIN WHILE ON WAY HOME

Famous Naturalist Was On Way From California to His Home in West Park When Death Overtook Him at 2 O'Clock This Morning.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 29.—John Burroughs, world-famous naturalist, died on a train today while en route from California to his home at West Park, N. Y.

Death occurred in a Pullman compartment at 2 a. m. when the New York Central train No. 16, known as the New York-New England Express, was passing through Kingsville, O.

Burroughs who had spent the winter in California, has been in feeble health for some time. Had he lived until April 3, he would have been 84 years old. He was one of the most famous naturalists ever produced by America and his nature studies along many lines have been accepted as authoritative.

John Burroughs was born at Roxbury, N. Y., April 3, 1837, received an academic education and after teaching school for eight years and serving as a treasury clerk and national bank examiner for the ten years following then turned to his natural bent, the study of horticulture, birds, flowers and the common wild animals of the temperate zone.

He is known as the author of a dozen or more nature study books, familiar to all school children.

He was a great friend of the late President Roosevelt and one of Burroughs' books deals with "Tramping and Camping" with that eminent American.

Burroughs was also known as a philosopher, while his literary style was regarded as of the first order, its simplicity and clarity being admired by all critics.

Burroughs' literary efforts and nature studies extended over a period of more than 50 years.

He was given a honorary degree of doctor of literature by Yale University in 1916 and a degree of doctor of humane letters by Colgate University in 1911.

New York, March 29.—Officials of the New York Central railway stated today that the body of John Burroughs was taken from the train either in Kingsville or Amherst, Ohio, in a private car.

COLD WAVE ON SCHEDULE TIME

Much to the disappointment of Kingston's residents the weather man's warning not to let the furnace go out and to keep the winter wraps handy by, for once proved true, and the promised cold wave rode into town on a heavy rain storm that broke over the city late Monday afternoon and which later turned to hail.

About 7:30 o'clock that evening the storm had abated and the temperature gradually kept dropping until it was considerably below the freezing point. During the night ice formed in receptacles that contained water, and the ground was frozen solid. At 7 o'clock this morning thermometers along the Strand registered 20 degrees above zero.

TEMPERATURE DROPS 56 DEGREES

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, March 29.—New Yorkers awoke today to find one of the most remarkable drops in temperature recorded for years. Between four yesterday afternoon and that hour this morning the barometer had tumbled fifty six degrees from 78 to 22.

The drop came in the wake of a seventy-eight mile gale which late yesterday caused one death and injuries to a score. The wind caused thousands of dollars worth of property damage. It ended in a half hour's hail storm.

As the sun made its appearance today the temperature began to show a steady rise but it was the coldest morning here in weeks.

SIX KILLED AND 60 INJURED

Explosion, Cause Unknown, Wrecks Warehouse in Chicago and Fire Follows the Explosion—Bodies Recovered Cannot be Identified.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Chicago, March 29.—Six bodies, terribly mangled, have been recovered and many persons were injured in a terrific blast of unknown origin which wrecked a four story paper warehouse on the near southwest side shortly before 11 a. m. today.

Fire followed the explosion and firemen and police were at work searching the ruins for possible additional victims of the explosion.

At 11:30 a. m. Coroner Peter M. Hoffman issued a statement in which he said the death toll would probably reach ten and the injured probably about sixty. This estimate was based on a partial unofficial check of those working in the place and those known to have been in the vicinity at the time.

A special detail was investigating the report that a leaky gas main was responsible for the explosion. A woman in the vicinity told the police she had telephoned the gas company previous to the blast to complain of a smell of gas in the neighborhood.

Windows within a radius of many blocks were shattered by the terrific concussion and men and women employees rushed from nearby stores and houses in panic.

Identification of the bodies taken from the debris has been impossible because of mutilation. The body of a small girl, about three years old, was the last small body taken from the ruins about 11:45 a. m.

The other dead were unidentified men, two with their heads blown off and the others badly mangled.

The possibility that the explosion may have been caused by a bomb attack in a war between junk dealers and their employees was seen in a statement made by Samuel Helman, proprietor of a paint shop near the warehouse. He said that just before the explosion a man came into his shop and asked how he could reach the warehouse. Helman said the man seemed greatly excited.

Another report said that a piece of paper with the word "torpedo" on it had been picked up in the ruins.

VIVIANI MISSION NOT DISCLOSED

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, March 29.—Rene Viviani, ex-ambassador of France, successfully resisted today all attempts to elicit from him the exact nature of his mission to the United States, in an exclusive interview with the International News Service. He consented to tell only what he would not discuss with President Harding tomorrow. By the process of elimination, however, the inescapable conclusion was that America's adherence to a League of Nations modified so as to suit America will be the main topic of conversation between the distinguished French statesman and President Harding.

That was also the conclusion of James W. Gerard, former United States ambassador to Germany, who acted as interpreter at the interview.

R. R. INEFFICIENCY CAUSE OF LOSS

Labor Organization Economists Say
Bad Management, Not Labor Costs,
Is the Cause of Loss of $1,000,- 000,000 a Year.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Chicago, March 29.—Inefficiency of railroad management, rather than the national agreements fixing wages and working conditions of employees, is responsible for the financial plight of the railroads, W. Jett Lauck, consulting economist of the railroad labor organizations, declared in a statement of the U. S. Railway Labor Board today. Lauck today began the presentation of labor exhibits before the board.

"The root of the railroad difficulty," Lauck declared, "is not in national agreements but in the inadequacies of management. Conservatively stated, if railroad management was characterized by reasonable efficiency and had available for its use a proper amount of credit or capital, labor costs would have shown a radical decline under natural agreements and saving in operating expenses of at least $1,000,000,000, annually, would be made."

Lauck outlined six points which he declared upheld the soundness of the policies represented by the national agreements.

First, he declared, the policy of establishing national agreements or uniform rates to pay and working conditions is in conformity with custom and precedent in the transportation industry and in accordance with the best public policy.

Second, Lauck asserted, collective bargaining on a national scale and national agreements as to working conditions and relations have been found to be the best means of stabilizing conditions in other basic industries of the country.

In Great Britain, Lauck's third point declared, these facts have become so clearly recognized that national agreements are encouraged by both employers and employees and an effort is being made to make them compulsory in all industries.

When the railroad administration entered into the national agreements, Lauck asserted as his fourth contention, it merely recognized a tendency which had complete development during the war and which was sanctioned by enlightened opinion both within and without the transportation industry.

Fifth, Lauck pointed out representatives of the railroads have practically given their sanction to national rates of pay and working conditions of engine and train crews. These classes, he declared, have uniformed
rates of pay and working conditions
embodied in agreements on individual roads, but underwritten by the national organizations and concurred in by the railroads on a national basis.

Railroads, Lauck charged in his sixth contention, are "consciously and deliberately taking advantage of a temporary industrial depression to destroy human standards sanctioned by thought and practices of the leading industrial nations of the world."

SHOT DEPUTY SHERIFF.

Automobile Thieves Then Tried to

COTTON IN FAVOR

Dress Fabrics for Summer Are to Be Attractive.

Weaves Fine and Beautiful; Rich Shades Are Taken From the Silk Color Card.

The cotton dress fabrics for the summer of 1921 represent one of the most remarkable achievements in the history of the manufacturing of materials. While the weaves are fine and beautiful it is not there that the real achievement lies. It is in the dyeing.
The shades are taken from the silk color card and the same shades are faithfully reproduced in cottons as they appear in the most beautiful of silks—and the silks have been marvelous during the past few years.

It is difficult to give you an idea of the hundreds of delicate hues. One organdie alone comes in 63 shades, ranging from the palest tints to deep colors. All the new red, brown and orange tones, so much favored in the smartest of winter garments, are seen in the cotton materials.

Next to the color comes the weave.
There are sheer organdies entirely new in pattern and weave. Some come in fancy checks, the checks being in different degrees of thickness, but the whole very sheer. Brocaded organdies are in the patterns of the handsomest silks of the present day and old-fashioned damasks.

Dropstitch voiles in myriads of beautiful shades are being effectively worked out in copies of French lingerie frocks that carry a great deal of hand-drawn work, thus making a simple yet distinguished dress without the expense of the handwork.

Among the family of English prints is a new arrival known as Tropical English print. The cloth itself is soft, much like a fine batiste, but beautifully printed, as its name indicates.
In all the colors seen in a tropical landscape or sunset. Some of the patterns and colorings are a bit weird. It is true, but these are overbalanced by the many that are unusual without being bizarre. Some are in old-fashioned chailis patterns that are certain of success through the quaint old-time appeal that they make.

Dotted swiss is always a favorite with the American woman, although little used by the French, so, being one of the most popular cotton fabrics used in this country, great attention has been paid to it in regard to color.
There are wonderful henna shades,
sapphire blue, various shades of maize,
brown and most remarkable reds.

THE "VAMP" HAT FOR SPRING

"The Vampire" is aptly applied to this spring hat, a creation of enameled straw, with charity lace and tassels of silk thread and jet beads draped over the ear.

FASHION HINTS FROM PARIS

The new French hats worn at winter resorts are shown in exquisite shades. A lovely one of navy blue tulle is covered with henna scurried ostrich feathers.

Bright and deep red, warm coral,
henna are used to trim white dresses
or other gowns in soft colors.

Jeweled straps serve to secure at the shoulders the tight bodices of the new evening gowns.

Capes continue to be in favor.

More than ever fur will be extensively used in the trimming of spring wraps. Capes made entirely elties offered to the elegant "going

Own Arabic With Search.

To give a beautiful glow to culture,
search for the source of the white gem arabic and pour it to powder, put it in a pitcher and pour on to it a dash of some of the best wine, served in the most delicate glass. Cover and let stand overnight. In the morning, pour it carefully from the pitcher into a clean bottle, cork, and keep for future use. A small amount of this water stirred into a glass of search will give a beautiful glow to culture, and to make a dash of arabic. It is also good for culture and all kinds of search.

Smith Like Given.

The house of the Philanthropist and Miss Fennell give forth a strong arab of culture, says the American Country Magazine, while the possibility of French is properly known as garlic word.

COSTUME OF BLACK VELVET

Passed as correct by the board of national fashion centers, this charming restaurant costume of black velvet and mole, from the shoes to the becoming black hat, has been given the final stamp of approval.

FOR NEXT SEASON'S DRESSES

Gorgeous Materials for Spring and Summer Wear Are Arriving
From Europe.

From Europe there come samples of gorgeous materials destined for the spring and summer dresses. They have embroidered fabrics that quite take one's breath away because of the intricacy of the work they display. The eyelet work is very popular with the French, and they have produced more than one material which shows this sort of embroidery used in an all-over pattern of borders that are designed to be used as trimming for the prospective gown. They embroider on silk, on chiffon, on tulle and on a variety of other allied fabrics.

They have a voile that has an all-over pattern done in thread work running over its entire surface. This allows so great a variety of color combinations that it cannot help but meet with favor. There is another imported voile in white with a pattern in black made up of squares and dots embroidered on its surface.

The French are also showing materials with embroidered designs. They have what they call a sponge cloth which is embroidered in this manner and which is used both for skirts and for the trimming of bodices that go with them.

Though georgette has been said to have passed from favor, there are still to be seen, both here and abroad, many creases of georgettes done with stripes and patterns and certain brocaded designs. These have the charm of novelty and for that reason they will probably win a place for themselves among the favorite materials of the season.

little beads or trimmed with lace, but the appeal of the gown lies in the drapery and the fabric.

Satin, too, is high in favor with the designers, because it combines so beautifully with serge, tricotines and the other woollens and the sheer stuffs so well. Satin is equally at its best in evening gowns and wraps, though when the lights are brightest the lame materials will prove a serious rival.
This season it is the glitter of gold rather than silver we prefer.

Brocade is considered in mode.
It is not out of place upon the ballroom floor and occasionally it develops madam's evening gown, although as the usual thing it is requisitioned for the afternoon frock.

Good Ironing Surface.

To make an ironing board on which it is a joy to iron, take one roll of cotton batting such as is used for remforts and puffs. Spread the cotton batting evenly over the board and fasten over this a cover made from unbleached muslin, tacking it down around the sides of the board. An extra length of muslin or unbleached cotton which can easily be washed should be used as an outer cover.

A Dye.

To dye a bit of ribbon, raffa or thread quickly, mix some oil paint with enough gasoline to wet the article. When the desired shade is acquired, dip the goods and it will have a "never fade" oil color.

Poorly Arranged.

Some things seem poorly arranged.
A man is generally able to pocket his pride, but a woman who has more pride has few pockets.—Boston Transcript.

Mrs. DeWitt Harley spent the past
Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rosenkrantz.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Hornbeck and daughter, Minnie, Mr. and A. G.
Davis and daughter, Marjorie, spent Easter Sunday with Mrs. Della Davis.

The surprise party at the home of Ernest and Alton Hornbeck was largely attended on Friday evening.
About fifty guests being present
from Accord, Boiceville, Krumville, Shokan, Palaukunk, Lehigh and Mottacabonta. Dancing and games were enjoyed by the young folks with lots of good music, after which all were invited to the dining room, where a fine supper was served.

The guests then departed for their homes, vowing it a very enjoyable evening.

Miss Marion Barley of Shrub Oak is spending her Easter vacation with her parents in this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dunn and daughter, Ruth, spent Easter with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rosenkrantz.

Miss Hazel Rider and sister, Elsie spent Sunday with their grandpar-

Venetian Glass.

Venetian glass is distinguished by its exquisite thinness and freedom of quality—Tiffany glass being its only rival. Compared with Bohemian glass, which is also prized for its brilliance, its quality is much superior, although Bohemian glass sometimes rivals it in coloring and decorations which are more gorgeous but not as refined.

WHICH IS TWEEDLEDUM?

According to testimony before the United States Railway Labor Board which is in session at Chicago, not a single "authorized" strike has been called since the organization of the Railway Employees Department of the American Federation of Labor in 1912. Much importance is given to that statement by B. M. Jewell, president of the department.

There have been strikes on the railroads since 1912, and the railway workers have been among them. About a year ago railway strikes which seriously affected Kingston City and Ulster county were termed "outlaw" strikes. The public can see no difference between an "authorized" strike and one not authorized except that the latter goes under the name of "outlaw."

Who orders the "authorized" strike and who orders the "outlaw" strike? Are they ordered from the same source? If they are ordered by different sets of officials, are the powers of such officials interchangeable? Can "authorized" officials call an "outlaw" strike, or can "outlaw" officials call an "authorized" strike?

What the public would like to know is whether any penalty is imposed by the unions on men who engage in a strike that is not "authorized." If there is such a penalty, what is it? Is it enforced?

The "authorized" strike among the railway workers has not occurred since 1912, according to President Jewell. Would such a strike cause any greater inconvenience to the general public than the unauthorized "outlaw" strike? Under which variety of strike do the rights of the public receive greater consideration?

The hair-splitting distinctions which sometimes have characterized proceedings and decisions in law courts seem to have been adopted by some of the big labor leaders, but they are distinctions without a difference. To the suffering public, the difference between the "authorized" and the "outlaw" strike is the difference between tweedle-dum and tweedle-dee.

ALABAMA-FLORIDA DEAL.

If nature and not men had drawn the boundary lines of some of our states they would be differently shaped. Nature would have brought the entire width of Alabama—for example—down to the water front, but as it is Alabama, a "Gulf State," touches the Gulf of Mexico only with two counties bordering Mobile Bay, while nine other counties, properly belonging to her territory, are a part of Florida, which state reaches out a long western arm and grabs nearly three-fourths of Alabama's coast line, notwithstanding the fact that Florida, on both the Atlantic and the Gulf, has coast line to give away—we might almost say "to burn." The Apalachicola river ought to be the boundary line between the two states, but the Perdido river is the boundary line, presumably because it became the boundary line between French Louisiana and Spanish Florida in 1762. There appears to be no other way of accounting for the present grotesque arrangement whereby Florida reaches a narrow arm 150 miles into what should be southern Alabama.

The two states are now considering a transfer of the sovereignty over the same misplaced Florida counties. The legislature of Alabama, which has constitutional power to issue bonds for the purchase of additional territory, passed the enabling act last year, and the Florida legislature will consider the transfer when it meets in April. If Florida agrees and does not demand too high a price, it looks as if a misguided division of territory will be rectified, in which case Alabama will gain largely. The important Gulf port of Pensacola is situated in the region it is proposed to transfer.

WOULD NEVER DO WITH IT.

The cave man ate the fish and tasted the bones pretty much as some of the lower animals do. Doubtless there are savages of our own time who do the same even now. The civilized man, on the other hand, is refused to his eating and is even inclined to favor further refinement along the same line. But the most civilized of men is likely to balk at the vision of extreme refinement thus presented by Richard L. Garner in the March Forum: "In the distant future, instead of the barbarous custom of assembling guests around an altar of immolation, called at table, to witness the carving or dissecting of a cadaver, whose form may yet be recognized, the host of the day will assemble his guests about a table adorned with exotic flowers from which will be exhaled invisible fumes of ambrosial proteids, with exquisite odors that will fill the air with vital essence and stimulate the olfactory and palatal nerves to the verge of intoxication, and by some yet to be discovered means absorb the necessary food."

In other words we shall not even be permitted to suck honey from the blooms as the bees do but in order to be altogether refined, must content ourselves with mere whiffs. The machinery of our stomachs will go to rust and our developed olfactory will be able to exact a solid meal out of a mere six courses of perfume. All the delicious things we now eat—when we can afford them—will be relegated to a barbarous past. A good thing this banqueting upon mere odors is staged for the distant future, for it would never do with us.

CAT NOT PROPERTY.

Therefore It Cannot Be Stolen, Says Denver Court.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Denver, March 29.—The cat may be sacred in Egypt, where it is endowed with a soul, but old Tabby isn't even recognized as having property value under the common law of this land, according to a decision rendered by Magistrate Bray in police court here.

Timothy Avington, a dental student, was charged with stealing the feline pet of P. M. Gaul, for use, it was said, in experimenting on the cat's teeth—they appeared to have cavities, it was testified. Avington did not deny appropriating the cat, or that he had used it as a subject in connection with his dental studies. He mercifully chloroformed it before starting to fill the cavities, he said.

His attorney produced authorities to show, however, that a cat is not rated as property under the common law, and has not been made property by statute in this state, although dogs and other animals have been raised to the dignity of property value by statute.

"A cat is not property, therefore it cannot be stolen," Judge Bray ruled. "There is no such crime or offense as stealing a cat in the eyes of the law." And now the city attorney's office and attaches at the district attorney's office are trying to find some way to prevent the wholesale theft of cats.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

by MARY GRAHAM BOWEN

THE DANCERS.

"My dancers are coming," shouted Brownie Joy to the boy and the girl who were off for adventures.

The boy and girl looked, and from far up the road came running and hurrying and scurrying and dancing lots and lots of creatures who seemed to be here one moment and there the next!

"They're the shadow dancers," explained Joy. "They must always come to a dance like this. They've done us a great honor to come from out of the woods to dance and dance along the road, laughing at the sun as he plays jokes on them."

"Sometimes the shadows are weeping and the pine trees in the woods whisper to them and try to comfort them, but they fly this way and that as they weep."

"They weep, too, when Joy is not loved, for they know what a horrible world it would be without me."

"It's not consoled me to say so, for it is simply a gift which I have—the gift of joy."

"Watch the other dancers come!" And they watched many beautiful wood elves and brownies and little people of the woods as they came hurrying along the road.

"They don't always wear the collars they now have on with their names written on them."

"Like dogs with collars," said the girl. "Do they have their addresses

The Little Glee Twins.

written on them, too, in case they're lost?"

She was surprised to hear Joy say, "Yes."

"It might be a good thing," Joy added. "If they could always wear their collars so that more could know their names, for they don't seem to always be heard when they speak."

The boy and the girl looked, and they laughed and smiled and chuckled and clapped as they watched the dancers.

After a time the boy and the girl danced too with the other dancers, among whom were the little Glee twins, and the two Bliss brothers, and Gladness, Cheer, Delight, Safety and Jollity.

After they were all quite out of breath they had some refreshments from the boy's knapsack, and there was enough for all, though there was nothing left over for any other meals.

"Well," said Joy, "I'm glad to have met you when I did, for I think now you'll enjoy your journey a little more perhaps."

"Maybe you will get there sooner. I think so. For I'm one of the guide posts (even if I'm not a post!) to direct adventurers to the House of Secrets."

"Good-bye," said the boy. "We've enjoyed seeing you so much and your dancers too."

"Oh, indeed, we have," said the girl. They started on their way and Joy turned to the dancers.

"Ha, ha," he said, with his hand in front of his mouth. "They shared their food with us and they didn't think they were improving their characters or being noble and splendid."

Therefore they were, and they're not so serious minded as they were. Gracious! They thought they could show me out of the way and that I'd not be missed in life!"

"Well, they'll get there a little sooner now. I pointed in the direction of a short cut."

The boy and the girl had gone some distance now and they came again to cross-roads.

"Well, we'd better take this short cut which Joy pointed out to us," said the boy.

"Yes, that is right," said the girl. And in the meantime Joy and his dancers were singing and dancing. This was their song:

"A boy isn't a boy,
Who doesn't know Joy,
A girl isn't a girl,
Who isn't a girl,
If she doesn't know Joy,
Just the same as a boy,
For Joy's part of life,
And if we have been talked,
Our eyes will become blind,
With tears, tears, tears,
We know Joy, know Joy, know Joy."

And they danced again and again to the music which they made themselves, and they sang this song many, many times over.

Nothing to Disappoint Child.
Teacher—Why did the cowboys leave the world to be lost?
Bright Boy—"Cause they didn't have no cotton bolls to grow that it was good."

BANDITS SEIZE U. S. MAIL TRUCK

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Chicago, March 29.—Four armed automobile bandits today kidnapped Robert Burnett, chauffeur of a United States mail truck in Cicero, an outlying section of this city, threatened to kill him if he resisted and escaped with two pouches containing first class mail.
Burnett saved a money pouch containing several thousand dollars although the robbers demanded it. When the robbers asked for the money pouch Burnett threw them the two first class mail sacks, instead the sacks contained more than 8,000 letters but the value of their contents is not known.
Shogun squads have been sent out to search for the bandits.

"THE END OF THE ROAD."

To Be Shown at Modena, Kingston and Marlborough Free.

That the "movie" "The End of the Road" far exceeded everyone's expectations in regard to it was clearly shown by the interest of the unusually large number of women and girls (over sixteen) who were present at the Community House at Milton last night. The unbounded praise given by all who attended the first performance of this picture in Ulster county would indicate that no woman in the county who can possibly attend any of the other performances—at Modena, Kingston or Marlborough—will miss the opportunity.

Dr. Croft in her own inimitable way brings before her audiences important factors pertaining to health matters. Even if you should not be interested in the film you should be sure to hear Dr. Croft.

Illustrated Talks Too.

In other communities where the film may not be shown, for the present at least, illustrated talks on "Keeping Fit" will be given. Dr. Croft will be the speaker at these meetings and no woman or girl over sixteen years of age can possibly attend one of these meetings should miss hearing the talk that will be so ably given.

In all of her talks throughout the state of New York and other states, Dr. Croft has interested her audiences from beginning to end, and also given them information of the most valuable kind pertaining to health matters. Her engaging personality and her vast knowledge of her subject makes her an especially informing and interesting speaker.

These meetings are a part of the "Keeping Fit" or "Keeping Well" campaign that is being carried on throughout the state by the state department of health. We feel particularly fortunate in being able to have Dr. Croft for these meetings in Ulster county as a part of the home nursing program of the Home Bureau.

ESOPUS.

Esopus, March 28.—The audience room of the Methodist Church was well filled on Wednesday evening last when the illustrated lecture was given by Dr. G. E. Wright. After a few comic pictures were shown, the ones pertaining to the lecture started with a view of the interior of a West Shore train with passengers on board.

Then views of the Lusitania were shown—her crew, the immense quantity of supplies needed for a single trip across the ocean, and the landing at Liverpool. The scenes in England and the Scotch songs rendered by James Tinnin of Port Ewen, in full Highland costume, were greatly enjoyed, as were also his kind responses to the hearty encores. The talk on Robert Burns by Samuel Tinnin, also of Port Ewen, and the rendition of some of the famous poet's poems, were highly appreciated.

The Tinnin brothers were born and reared in the immediate neighborhood of the birth place of Burns, consequently they speak with authority upon the subject. Mrs. Samuel Tinnin's recitations were thoroughly enjoyed and she was recalled with such enthusiasm by the audience.

Mrs. Harry Mable ably presided at the piano. At the close of the program a rising vote of thanks was given to Dr. Wright and those who had so kindly given their services. Then all repaired to the basement, where the Ladies' Aid Society had an ample supply of refreshments on sale. The gratifying sum of $30.26 will be cleared from the evening's program. This will be used for the benefit of the church.

Mrs. Elmer Lund wishes to express her thanks to her neighbors and friends for their kindness and thoughtfulness during her stay at the Kingston City Hospital. Mrs. Lund is now at home in this village, slowly regaining her usual health.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Boonert and little son, Alfred, of New Falls motored to Esopus Wednesday evening to attend the lecture in the Methodist Church. Their many friends were delighted to greet them.

The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE

XVIII—LOUISIANA

THE discovery of Louisiana dates back to the beginning of the sixteenth century, when the Spanish explorer, Alvarus de Pineda and De Soto sailed up the Mississippi. In 1682 La Salle descended the Mississippi and took possession of the entire valley in the name of the French king, Louis XIV. In his honor this region was named Louisiana. French colonies soon sprang up, including New Orleans, which was founded in 1718.

An interesting chapter of Louisiana was the formation of the Company of the West by a financial schemer named John Law. This company ostensibly was to exploit the new colony and held out to speculators an alluring get-rich-quick scheme. In 1763 France ceded Louisiana east of the Mississippi to England, and, by secret treaty, New Orleans and the western territory went to Spain. Spanish rule proved unendurable to the inhabitants and the restrictions over the navigation of the Mississippi led to hostilities between the northern American settlements and Spain. This situation, however, was brought to a peaceful termination by Spain relinquishing her rights to this territory to France and the purchase in 1803 by the United States from France of the entire Louisiana territory.

The southern portion of this acquisition was organized as the territory of Orleans and in 1812 was admitted as the eighteenth state of the Union, with an area of 40,000 square miles. As the Louisiana coat-of-arms has a pelican in its center, the state is often called the Pelican State. (By McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

VINCENT ASTOR HAS NEW YACHT

With appropriate ceremonies the new 160-foot steel yacht owned by Vincent Astor was launched Saturday at City Island. Many prominent New York folk attended the ceremony. Mrs. Oliver Milley christened the craft, which was christened the Nourmahal.

Astor had hoped that this yacht would be completed last summer, but the fire the previous winter destroyed much of the material assembled at Robert Jacob's yard and consequently there was a long delay. The plans of the Nourmahal were drawn by Cox & Stevens. The yacht is 160 feet, 8 inches long over all, 151 feet on the water line, 25 foot beam moulded, 11 feet depth moulded and 10 feet draft. Seaworthiness was an essential feature in designing and the lines are full and wholesome. The stem rises forward with an inverse curve. The stern is of the modified steamship type with the rudder entirely below the water line. The vessel is built of steel, the shell being 3/8 to 5/16 inch plate. The hull is divided into seven full water and oil tight compartments.

The accommodations in the deck house consist of a large dining saloon, smoking room and owner's rooms on the starboard side. The living and smoking rooms are provided with open fireplaces and are lighted by large square windows. The extreme after end of the house is arranged as a veranda, enclosed except at the after end, and it reaches through a vestibule on the starboard side, which also gives access to the guest rooms below deck. The pilot house, radio room are on the boat deck, forward of which is a large fair weather seating space.

The quarters on the berth deck aft consist of two large staterooms. On the port side are one double and one single stateroom. On the starboard side is a large single stateroom. The berth deck forward of the engine space is utilized as crew space. The yacht is driven by two Winton engines of the full Diesel type. These engines show 350 horsepower at 250 revolutions a minute. Oil fuel is carried in a deep tank aft and a low tank forward. Each is divided into two separate compartments and the total capacity is 67 long tons.

HUSBAND POOR COOK

So Wage-Earning Wife Complains in Baltimore Court.

By Telegram to The Freeman, Baltimore, Md., March 29.—This story has to do with a wage-earning young wife who, after switching jobs with her equally young husband, balked and kicked for better food. One meal cooked by her husband was enough, according to Mrs. Mary Sheldon, 21 years, and she repented her agreement and quit.

Mrs. Sheldon agreed in court before Justice Joseph Ranft to go to work and make a living for the family if her husband, Edward Sheldon, also 21, would stay home, cook and take care of the baby.

After seeing her husband walking about the house with an apron tied around him, the baby on one arm and a bottle of milk in the other—well, she just couldn't stand it. A few hours after the Sheldons had returned to their home following their interview with Justice Ranft, the young husband started in on supper. Right there when they sat down to that meal together Mrs. Sheldon repented her bargain and determined she would not go on with it. The young wife forthwith hunted up Mayor William F. Broening at his home. To the city's chief executive she unfolded her troubles.

"I said 'cook,'" she told Mayor Broening in the talk with "His Honor," to whom she hurried from the supper table. "You just ought to have seen what he gave me to eat. If I am going to go out and make the living I've got to have food, not the kind of a meal he gave me," vehemently declared the young wife.

"And I just couldn't stand the sight of him contented to walk around with an apron tied around him and the baby on one arm and a bottle of milk in the other. I just can't go on with it and I came to you for advice."

The mayor sent Mrs. Sheldon to the state's attorney's office and there she saw Assistant State's Attorney Herbert O'Connor. Mr. O'Connor has the spirit of conciliation in large measure. He believes that a man and his wife should agree if there is any way in the world to manage it.

"Try his meals a little while longer," suggested O'Connor. Mrs. Sheldon's eyes got big and her mouth opened.

Mrs. Sheldon's mouth shut again without any sound. She'd follow his advice. The expression on her face indicated she'd wait before she did anything further in the matter of prosecuting her husband. But she wouldn't eat his meals. No, she wouldn't do that.

OLD MAN'S PLEA FOR YOUNG MEN

By Telegram to The Freeman, London, March 29.—All responsible positions should be in the hands of young men.

That, in brief, is the gospel preached by A. Burtenshaw, J. P., the eighty-year-old chairman of the Huddersham Water Company.

Mr. Burtenshaw advises the shareholders to "back" himself and his fellow co-directors, and put young men in their places, because:

Age brings a failure of faculties essential to success. Old men have not the necessary mental and physical alertness. They have a growing prejudice against new discoveries, and are given to garrulity instead of action.

Statement Challenged. This doctrine, however, finds a staunch opponent in Sir James Cantlie, the famous specialist, who has declared to the world that old age is a pose.

"None of Mr. Burtenshaw's conclusions ought to be true," he declares. "An old man need not lose his mental and physical alertness, nor the faculties essential to success. He should not be prejudiced against new discoveries—and very often he isn't."

"It is true a young man may have the best of ideas, but he hasn't the experience to bring them to a successful issue. We hear a lot about the hardened arteries of the man past middle age, but the man who strives to retain his health isn't to be hampered by hardened arteries."

"I am in my seventieth year, and I am still responsible for bringing into effect my own ideas."

The Best Man for the Job. "As a matter of fact I dread the arrival of a new idea, because I never have any peace until I have translated it into practice."

"The best man for a really responsible position is the man who has the experience which can only come with age plus a determination to remain active."

WHERE WILL BIG FIGHT BE STAGED?

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, March 29.—An eleventh hour deluge of offers for the Dempsey-Carpenter fight today resulted in further delay in the naming of the site.

Tex Rickard is in a quandary. He has until April Fool's day to muller the information the fight public is so eager to hear and he may wait until the last moment.

Two conferences today were scheduled to consume the major portion of the promoter's time.

John W. Snyder, Cumberland, Md., with a delegation of prominent citizens from his home town, was booked for another conference with the Texan. Snyder conferred with Rickard for a brief spell yesterday but failed to induce him to name the Maryland town.

Walter C. Percival, who says he represents a syndicate headed by Solly Joel, London diamond merchant, which has offered $500,000 for the match, was also scheduled to whisper in Rickard's ear.

Meanwhile, the peer of promoters scanned telegrams offering this and that and read over again a belated offer of $800,000 from Dr. W. E. Harrison, who declares that Broken Hills, Nevada, will take over the fight and guarantee that amount. The unheard-of towns are getting into print as they always do.

"Honestly, I haven't made a final decision yet," said Rickard today. "As I've said repeatedly, I am giving every angle and every offer the closest attention and I won't make a final decision until I am certain that I have chosen the best site possible."

Rickard took occasion to deny a report printed here Monday to the effect that Jersey City would get the match. He said there was absolutely nothing to it.

Up and down Broadway, however, they still are wakening brown derbies that the battle of the century will be staged "somewhere in New Jersey."

At Pittsburgh—Joe Lynch, ban-tamweight champion, won a newspaper decision over Young Pinchot, Charleroi, Pa., in 10 rounds.

Mary Pickford at Orphanum.

Critics everywhere assert that "Follies" is one of the greatest picture-plays ever filmed. The reason for this is that the philosophy upon which the story is based constituted a theme which at the present time has an unusually wide appeal. This production will be the feature of the Orphanum Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday April 4, 5 and 6. Undoubtedly Mary Pickford, with characteristic far-sightedness, had this in mind when she chose this celebrated work as her first vehicle for the United Artists' Corporation.

WILHELM'S BANK BALANCE TOO LOW

Bank Ledger Shows It Did Not Fit Previous Testimony Given in the Terwilliger Bath House Case.

The "bath house" case of Dr. F. W. Terwilliger against Browning, King & Company, the New York doctors, which is nearing its close before Judge Rosch and a jury in the supreme court, was marked by a new development late Monday afternoon when an officer of the Manufacturers' Bank of Brooklyn, where Mr. Wilhelm had testified he had made a loan of $8,500 which was used by Terwilliger to tender payment of the amount he owed the clothing firm for rent, produced the bank ledger for 1919, when the loan was claimed to have been made, and testified that the daily bank balance of Wilhelm for a period of three months about the time of the transaction did not exceed $2,200.

Testimony previously given on behalf of the plaintiff was to the effect that when Browning, King & Company, the owners of the Turkish and Russian baths at Sixth Avenue and Thirty-third street, New York, demanded rent, Dr. Terwilliger borrowed about $8,000 the amount then due from Wilhelm, who borrowed it from the Manufacturers' Bank of Brooklyn. Terwilliger claimed that Browning, King & Company refused to take the money, and that he turned it over to Abraham Feinstein, his attorney, who deposited it and later gave a check to Wilhelm for the amount he had loaned. Dr. Terwilliger.

W. W. McManus was called by Browning, King & Company as a witness Monday afternoon. He is now officers' assistant in the bank and in 1910 was bookkeeper. The bank has destroyed all books and papers more than seven years old, he testified, except the ledgers, and he produced the ledger for 1910.

For the period from July 1 to September 1 of that year, he read the daily bank balances, or amount due Wilhelm at the close of business each day. During most of that time the daily bank balance ran from $1,600 to $700, and on the day when Wilhelm claimed he had made the loan at the bank and drawn a check against it payable to Dr. Terwilliger, who had cashed it, the daily bank balance due to Wilhelm was $386.

Mr. McManus testified that the ledger contained the record of checks paid, deposits and also discount loans made by the bank. He did not know whether Wilhelm had made any personal loan from any of the officers of the bank or from Mr. Nightingale, who was then cashier. Mr. Nightingale was retired when the Manufacturers consolidated with another bank in 1914 and died two years ago.

For a period of three summer months covering the dispute between Dr. Terwilliger and Browning, King & Company, the daily bank balance of Wilhelm did not show any balance of $3,000, according to the bank ledger.

The case was continued this morning with Charles P. Northrop, attorney for Browning, King & Company, on the witness stand. He was examined by Judge Clearwater, of counsel for the firm, and cross-examined by Mr. Feinstein and Judge Van Wyck, counsel for Dr. Terwilliger.

The big campaign to secure more members in the two local savings and loan association in an effort to relieve the housing situation in Kingston will close Wednesday evening when the workers will meet at the Y. M. C. A. to make their final reports. It is expected that it will be possible by that time to have canvassed every house in the city.

If there are any residents of the city who have not been seen as yet by the workers and who desire to help Kingston by helping themselves in subscribing for shares in either of the associations it is hoped that they will get in touch with the ward captains or with either the Chamber of Commerce office on Broadway or the offices of the loan associations, and a worker will be sent to see them.
